Sketches of Little OLD NEW YORK by M. McIntyre

Telegram Bureau: Rooms 121-125 Hotel Majestic, West Seventy-second Street.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Charles L. Scott and George Donohue, famous along Automobile Row for making you buy a car whether you want it or not—they are that oily tongued—were crossing Broadway at Seventy-second street the other evening.

They were deeply engrossed in some important conversation heedless of the fact that the street is packed and jammed with automobile traffic at night. Most people who cross there take a grip on themselves and then hope Providence will forget the kaiser for a few moments and look out after them until they reach the other curb.

But not Scott and Donohue. They went at a small like pace oblivious that they were courting a free ride in an ambulance. Finally along came one of those low and beetle-browed taxi drivers. The kind that hate to run over little babies because the bottles cut up their tires so. This one was jockeying for position and was rushing madly into the automobile salesman. He stopped with a jerk that almost made him do a Steve Brodie to the street.

"They boys," he shouted. "How do you like the city?"

All of which might be called trigger stug.

Lunchrooms move in cycles in New York. The one armed restaurants are no longer the vogue. These highly colored and profusely lighted places have given way to coffee and cake salons done in dark shades and richly furnished. There are individual tables. The new places are dotted all over the Times Square section.

Dr. P. M. Planck in town after a trip to Oklahoma tells of a lawyer in Guthrie who was examining a witness. "What is your nationality?" he asked.

"I am a Dane."

"Ah, yes; and when did you come from Dane?"

Robert Hilliard, aside from being some actor, has opinions of his own. If you don't believe it watch the line form on the right to see Mr. Hilliard's especially selected play, "Pride of Race," every night at Maxine Elliott's theater.

Also every New York newspaper has refused to run this ad:

"Lost—On January 12, the power of the New York dramatic critics to kill a good play. Any one discovering the reason will be suitably rewarded by applying to Robert Hilliard."

Back of it all is tangible evidence that New Yorkers pay little attention to dramatic criticism. The critics did not speak very favorably of Hilliard's play. In fact they harpooned it, but Mr. Hilliard believed in it—believed in it so thoroughly that he kept right on in the play and now it is the dramatic sensation of the season and will easily last a year on Broadway.

The star has no animosity toward the critics. They are all his friends but he does not believe they are infallible. The play presents a race problem and is quite weepy but it packs the punch.

There is hilarity in abundance along the midriff of Broadway, for the new prosperity has brought out an entirely new crop of theatrical "angels." There are in preparation now at least half a dozen plays which are backed by persons who have heretofore known little about the "protest" but they will learn, ya they will learn. In many cases the authors of the plays have furnished or found the cash. On one play more than $25,000 has been expended and it is still ready for production. Angels are to be found all along Broadway and they are as loose as ashes with their money.

SALTS IF KIDNEYS OR BLADDER BOTHER

Harmless to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids.

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread. The water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, their is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatsoever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.—Advertisement.
